

CNHP Capstone Seminars for 2010

Capstones are open to all students, and while there are no prerequisites, a basic understanding of natural health such as found in the seminars for CNHP Certification is recommended.

Capstone seminars are designed to be more advanced and to enhance the learning from the foundational Certification seminars or previous experience. Each Capstone will bring awareness of additional specific techniques. A qualified instructor will guide the student in detail from start to finish on a certain topic so that the student may immediately begin utilizing this new information.

All graduates of the CNHP Certification program must attend a minimum of one Capstone each year as continuing education to maintain Certification status. Natural health studies embody an abundance of modalities and a wealth of information. Knowledge gained in one area increases understanding and application of additional areas.

CNHP Certification Seminars for 2010

CNHP requires five seminars as the basis of our certification. Each certification seminar deals with a particular area of learning needed to become a Certified Natural Health Professional.

Candidates are to attend and complete five certification seminars on the various theories and techniques used by natural health practitioners. Each seminar is led by a competent, experienced, and dedicated instructor. A minimum of thirteen hours of study, classroom participation, and practical demonstration is required in order to become certified. Initial certification is dependent upon the successful completion of a written exam given at the end of most seminars.
